TO THE
Impartial and Courteous
READERS.

Gentlemen!

I Have this Year presented you with modest Predictions, and monthly Observations, and I hope none can be offended at what is offered; It is the Method and Matter, that, for above forty Years, has been continued successively; and at the Request of the worthy Author, Mr. William Lilly, (who, 'tis well known, deceased about six years since) I have been wholly concern'd and employed in the performance thereof annually, for above a Quarter part of that Time. 'Twas his last Request also, that I should still keep up his Name, (as long as I am able) which I resolve, God willing, to do, if it be but gratefully accepted, and pass current in the World, as well as its Fellows: and I know no Reason why it should not, for 'tis now somewhat improved, to make it the more acceptable, and generally useful, for all sorts of Persons, by the addition of the Moon's Nocturnal Rising and Setting, Conjecture of the Weather, and Change of the Air, High-Water at London-Bridge; and several other Matters, the Author never regarded in his time, nor was it then expected. All this the intelligent Reader may readily discover.

As for the Ephemeris, I follow Mr. Gadbury's, 'tis such as our own Nation affords, and may serve exact enough for ordinary Use: such as have a desire to have the Motion, or exact Places of the Planets for a Nativity, or any particular Scheme more correct, may either calculate, or cause them to be calculated, de novo, from what Tables they best fancy: This Ephemeris of Merlin's was ever from the beginning a Transcript, and no new Calculation; nor is it worth any Man's pains to undertake so laborious a Task.

To the Readers, &c.

'Tis true we have several Years Ephemerides yet to come, of the Planets Motions and Aspects, by the learned Argol, which I could reduce to our Meridian, and with some little Emendation, it might be as serviceable: but I am willing to oblige our Countrey-men (if possible) who, I presume, did not publish Ephemerides only for themselves, Non nobis nati sumus, &c. And I know no Reason but I may take the same liberty as the rest of my Brethren, and I hope without offence; For my encouragement is very slender, and falls infinitely short of the pains that is taken: However I am willing to continue it for the Author's sake, and do affirm, that as 'tis now habited, it may prove as useful as any other Book of this nature, even to the meanest Apprehension, as well as such Persons as rightly understand all things relating to an Almanack. And thus I commend it to your candid Acceptation, and remain,

Gentlemen !

From my House in Baldwins Court in

A real Lover of Art
and Honesty,

HENRY COLEY.

Merlinus Junior, 1689.

(I) Of the four Quarters of the Years;

AND first of Winter, which this Year commences December the 10th, 1688. at 7^h 30' P. M. at which time we have about 24^d of Aries culminating, and 13^d of Leo ascending in our Horizon. The Moon then defluxing from a Sextile of Jupiter, and hasting to the Conjunction of Mercury, &c.

The passing Years how fast they fly?

Nor can the strictest Piety

Defer incroaching Age,

Or Death's resistless Rage;

If you each day

As Hecatomb of Bulls should slay,

The smoking Hoast could not subdue

That Tyrant to be kind to you.

Horac. Ode paraph.

Those that please may set the Figure of the Sun's Ingress into the Tropical Sign Capricorn, as it concerns the general Affairs for three Months succeeding, and perhaps may afford Matter enough for the Actors and Spectators of this Tragi-Comedy to gaze at: For the whole World is but the vast universal Theater, and the People the Objects with which the Fates usually sport themselves:

Ludit in humanis divina potentia rebus.

The Planet Saturn is lately entered into the sign Scorpio, and Jove is just falling into Aquary, where they will continue several Months; nay Saturn (according to his usual custom) a few years. Now the Motion of these Superiour Planets out of one sign into another is very significant, and we may justly hope for the good Concordancy, and Tranquillity of the People in general, during these three Months, as the Product and Effects of those happy Consultations of many great and weighty Affairs now in Agitation.

In the Figure of this Winter-Quarter, all the Planets are posited under the Earth, and therefore Matters will be debated, and carried on with much secrecy, but appear most significant about the end hereof. Many of the common People will too frequently be passing their Censures, and talking perhaps more than becomes them. As the Moon from the Sextile of Jove to the Conjunction of Mercury, in the fifth in a fiery regal Sign, methinks very aptly denotes-- Hence arise many private Debates and Consultations among the most active sort, at their private Clubs and Meetings, in Taverns and publick Houses, &c. with great enquiry after News, which, rather than they shall lose their Expectation, many will be forward enough to invent, as also to publish and spread abroad secretly, perhaps in Print too, to please themselves and others — and after this rate may we expect that by some, the winter will be pass'd away, by others in Gaming, Drinking, and such like Recreations will they enjoy themselves: for Saturn (the present Disposer of the Sun) is in the sign Scorpio (as before I hinted) and Mars is also posited in the same effeminate Sign, separating from a Conjunction of Saturn, and applying to a Sextile of Venus, who is also disposed of by Saturn, and posited in the sixth House: Now these three Planets are by some Persons affirmed to be the only Authors of all the Witchcraft in the World; yet not that Witchcraft which we account plain Fascination, (a thing much controverted of late years) but by a Magnetical Sympathy and Antipathy in the Actives and Passives of Nature. And so they are also asserted to be the cause of depraved Minds, and vicious Actions, and that (says my Author) with a witness, if Mercury, (the very Picture of the Soul) be not in good Aspect with the Moon and Saturn. By which means Reason gains the Conquest of Lust and Passion —

We may also expect to hear considerable News this Quarter, from several parts of Europe, and more particularly from the North, and North-western parts thereof, some of good good Import, and some the contrary. This Quarter should be both wholesome (as to Weather) and consequently healthful in most places, as Jove and Venus (both the Fortunes) in the sixth, naturally promise, and yet perhaps we may find it cold enough before the end thereof. And thus I conclude the Judgment of this Quarter — Mixima pars eorum que scimus, est minima pars eorum que nescimus —

*Rumours and strange Reports do fly,
And still Religion's all the Cry.*

(II.) Of the Spring-Quarter.

WHich this Year, according to some good Tables, commences, March the 9th. 7^h 48' P. M. and then the Sun touches the first scruple of the Equinoctial point Aries. A Figure of the Sun's Ingress immediately follows —

*Winter's dissolv'd, behold a World's new Face,
How Grass the Ground, how Leaves the Branches grace,
The Earth that would not to the Plough share yield,
Is softer now, and easy to be till'd;
And frozen Streams thaw'd by th' approaching Sun,
With whispering murmurs in their Channels run.
The naked Nymphs and Graces dance around,
And o'er the flowery Meadows nimbly bound, &c.*

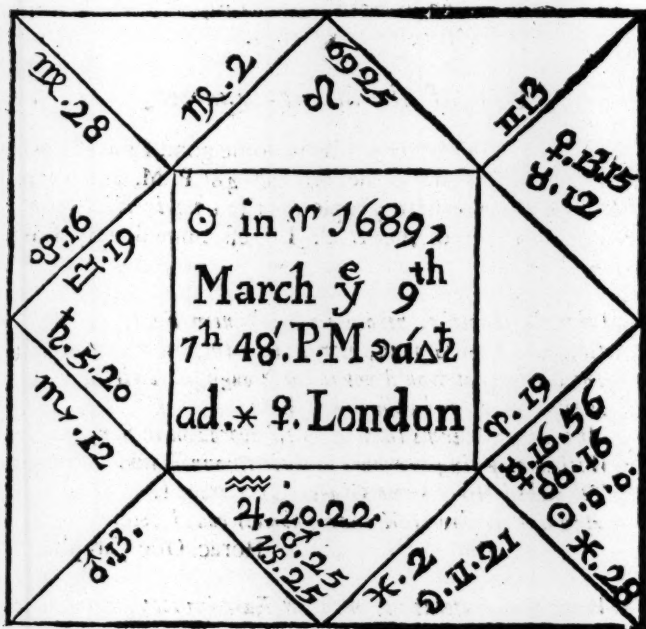

Horac. Ode paragraph.

*What most concerns us, most our Ears invite;
What's new and rare still heightens our Delight.*

In the following Figure the Angles are moveable, the three Superiors Angular and under the Earth, the Moon in Trine to Saturn, and Sextile to Venus, cum multis aliis. This Quarter must certainly prove a very busy time in most Nations of Europe, but nothing considerable should be apparent till towards the end thereof, the People in general remain moderately well pleased; they pretend much Loyalty now, and appear ready and serviceable to their Power;

every one according to his particular Capacity, and Circumstance; yet we must expect to hear of false Rumours and various Reports very frequently. Some of our Neighbour Nations seem to be very high and potent, and easily inclin'd to dissatisfaction: Mars, Ruler of the seventh, lyes close under the Earth in his Exaltation, Cauda is near the

Ascendant, and Venus Lady thereof (though strong) is posited in the 8th House, This Position shews the inclination of silly People to perplex themselves with Fears and Cares of approaching Dangers when they have no just Cause for the same; Much Discourse of War, and great Animosity between one Nation and another, and a small matter puts them upon Contests, Disputing, Articles, Priviledges, & quid non? for Mars being so powerful and Angular in Quadrant drate Aspect to the Ascendant and Mercury, this stirs up the Choleric Humours of Men: for Mars has great Influence upon the Iracible or angry Parts, and too often inclines Men of that humour to Controversies, Quarrels, Sedition, Tumults, Commotions, &c. (though none of this will be found with us of the English Nation) In numeris periculis exposita est vita hominum; The Life of Man lyes open to infinite Perils, and subject to many Dangers.— There is also a great Reception between Saturn and Mars, which is very remarkable, and demonstrates much Policy and Craft will be used by some great ones to carry on their Designs, which we may discover perhaps in the Month of April, upon the Opposition of the Sun and Saturn. The Sun is the most glorious of all the Planets to the sight of Man, and most benevolent, in regard of the indulgent heat he affords unto the Earth, for Vivification of every sensitive Plant, Vegetable, or Mineral, thus the Influence of the Sun, (who also signifies the greatest and best of Men, in Quality and Dignity, upon Earth) is very plain, so far, to the meanest Apprehension, and in Mundane Affairs has signification of great and noble Actions.— But Saturn in Scorpio, (which is generally accounted the worst of all the Twelve Signs, according to the Judgment and Opinion of all Authors) hath signification of treacherous Actions, also Fraud in the highest degree, Compacts, Plots, &c. cunningly laid, and contrived, but to no purpose; For the glorious Lamp of Heaven, the Sun, discovers all—

Lastly, Mercury is in Aries, that active sign, and in Sex- tile to Jove in the 4th. he is also Ruler of the 9th. House, and being so posited, puts many active Heads upon New Inventions in some places abroad. There are a sort of men in the World think nothing so well done, as what they have a hand in, and are so capricious, who, though they can find no Fault with Venus her self, will carp at her Sanda', or somewhat else about her: others pretend to a certain Monarchy or Monopoly of Knowledge, and upon that score we see they often pawn, or engage the Authority of their great Names in the World.— To what Judge can we appeal appeal but the world, or to what Law, but Faith, Reason and Sense? and yet some Men will not be judg'd by that, unless it speak their own sense—— And as to the Inventions that have been found out in our Days, they are, as I conceive, not much unlike unto strange Fates, and Felicities, and some Magnalia thereof have proved as great Treasures to the world, as the Indian Mines, which certainly the Discovery made up by Columbus did, in a great measure, comprehend. And thus I come to the consideration——

(III.) Of the Summer-Quarter,

WHich this Year commences June the 10th. at 9^h 39' P. M. In the Scheme thereof we have about 27^d of Scorpio culminating, and 23^d of Capricorn Ascending, the Moon defluxes from the Square of Saturn, and Trine of Mars, and applies to the Sextile of the Sun and Saturn, and Opposition of Jupiter, as those that please to set the Figure may see; and also that no less than four or five of the Planets exist in the very beginning or end of the Signs they are posited in. Before this time of the Year we may observe that many Persons (if they have prov'd more forward than they ought to be) have unhappily fallen out of the Flying-Pan into the Fire—— Ex Fumo in Flammam.

Reputation in the World is a thing like a Glass, which being once crack'd, will never be otherwise than crasy—— On the other side, I may say, If any Man had the strength of Sampson, the Knowledge of Plato, the Puissance of Hercules, the Courage of Hannibal, the Moderation of Scipio, the Riches of Croesus, the Eloquence of Demosthenes, the stout Courage and Conduct of Alexander; and yet, like Diogenes, in a Tub, conceal his Parts and Abilities, he would appear no more to the World than a painted Fire that gives no heat. Let us not suffer our selves to be dazzled by a false Lustre, that we perceive not till we find we are precipitated into great Absurdities, and we are too apt to presume every Man to be good, till the contrary appears, or is proved.

By

By this time we may expect to hear of some great Donns amongst us turn'd out or discarded, others are advanced to Honour in their places, many aged Persons, and those no less Eminent in the world, we hear make their Exit, as well as the poorer or meaner sort: and thus we may observe, that, sometimes, according to the Adage, Death delights to feed upon Dainties: but this only relates to foreign Parts. This will prove the most active Quarter in all the Year: here are many very remarkable Occurrences now upon the stage, in some parts of Europe, much of Council also, and very high and deliberate Consultations, concerning matters of great moment now depending—God direct those Noble and prudent Hero's that sit at the Stern of Government; and defend us from the implacable Malice and Fury of our most inveterate Enemies.

Many and very significant are the Configurations of the Planets this Quarter, and in particular this very Month of June, that the Sun enters the Tropical sign Cancer, let us patiently wait to see the Effects, and how matters are vigorously transacted in mundane Affairs.

As to the time of the Year in particular, (and generally in all the four Quarters) we should have (for the most part) good and seasonable Weather, and consequently wholesome and healthy in the main; and if so, I expect not the Bills of Mortality, in London, and Parts adjacent, should exceed (considerably) those of the last famous Year, 1688—From violent Sicknes or Diseases, from Fires and Famines, and all other Diseases, &c. Good Lord, deliver us, and continue Peace and Plenty amongst us—Of Plenty we have little cause to doubt, and as little danger of prejudice by War—although we may hear of Action to purpose, in this Quarter, (in one kind or other) very notable, and no less remarkable, in many, or most parts of the Christian World—And thus I proceed to the consideration.—

(IV.) Of the Autumnal, or Harvest-Quarter,

Which commences this Year September the 12th. at 2^h 49' P. M. or Afternoon, in which Figure we have again Scorpio about 14^d thereof upon the Mid-heaven, and Capricorn about 8^d ascending in our Horizon, with the Moon just rising therein. The Moon separates from the Trine of Mars, and applies to a Vacuum, and thus stands the Figure.

But first consider these Poetical Strains adapted to the Season.

*The Months that run on Time's immortal wheels,
The Seasons treading on each other's Heels,
The winged Hours that swiftly pass away,
And spitefully consume the smiling Day,
Tell us that all things must, with them, decay.
The Year runs round as in a constant Ring,
And foultry Summer wasts the milder Spring;
Whose hot Meridian, quickly overpast,
Declines to Autumn, which with bounteous hast,
Comes crown'd with Grapes, but suddenly is crost,
Cold Winter nipp's his Vintage with a Frost.*

*Bonum quo communius eo melius,
Hoc nunquam negabo.*

The Sun at his Ingress into Cancer is attended by the presence of Mercury, in the eighth House, and he is also Ruler thereof, and the Moon, this very Month is Eclipsed in Aries, hence some great Persons in foreign parts of both Sexes, are menaced, for 'tis appointed for all Mankind once to dye— If there happen great Causes, great Effects may be expected to besal Men proceeding from such Causes, and if those Causes continue long, and also be fierce and terrible, so shall the Effects be, saith Cardan. And it hath been often observed by curious inspectors into the works of Nature, that that great or formidable Causes, or Signs were ever accompanied with suitable and proportionable Events to succeed them——

However I shall not, nor dare not, be positive, or absolute in these Predictions of Future Events, especially as to particulars; and 'tis the highest Presumption imaginable, and great Imprudence for any Man so to do; for the hidden Secrets of the Almighty are impenetrable and not to be searched into effectually by any mortal Man. But (with Philosophers and Astrologers) it is lawful and requisite, that we make our Conjectures of the Effects of the Stars, and Signs that appear in the Heavens, what their Portents may be, and by long Observation and Experience, we may sometimes come very near the Mark, though we do not, nor ought not to pretend Infallibility. A te & Scientiâ, &c. From thy self and Science, saith the Famous Ptolomy, for it cannot be, that he who is skilful should pronounce the particular Form of things. The Moon in her Detriment in the Ascendant of this Ingress, shews, that some innocent people are possess'd with Fears and Jealousies, but she is in Trine to Mars, Ruler of the Mid-heaven, and in some measure dispos'd of by him, and therefore they will be obedient to their Superiours, and willingly submit to their Commands, and comply (the major part of them) with their Desires.— But the most considerable thing in the Scheme is the hateful Opposition of Saturn and Mars, from Fixed Signs; which shews there is yet an ill sort of Men in some Parts of Europe, whose Actions may end in their total Ruine. Mens minds are as various as the Season uncertain—Heavens blest our English Nation, and protect our Merchants Ships in what part of the World soever they be, whether outward or homeward bound, for this Opposition portends much danger, or an unhappy Accident to befall some of them this Quarter, occasioned by violent Storms and Tempests, and otherwise, viz. by Shipwrack, Piracy, &c. unless Divine Providence do favour the Endeavours of those Persons concerned therein. The Turks themselves are very much menaced thereby, and still fall under great Calamities; and we may,
I fear,

Merlinus Junior, 1689.

I fear, yet hear of other strange Disasters occasioned by Earthquakes in some remote parts of the World, with the heats of Passion to purpose, amongst some of our Neighbour Nations — and thus I have modestly hinted at what Matters, in all probability, may occur this Year, I hope, to the satisfaction of the honest and impartial Readers; and I shall conclude my Judgment upon the four Quarters of the Year in these Words, viz. All things have a time to be born, to encrease, to dye, and to be extinguished.

(V.) Of the Eclipses of this Year, 1689.

WHich will be only two, both of the Moon, and both great Eclipses, viz. Total and nearly central, visible in our Hemisphere. The first falls upon our Lady-Day, viz. March the 25th. near 7. at night in the Sign Libra.

The second may be expected September the 19th. near 2. in the morning, this falls in Aries, in Opposition to the former, it falls in the 8th. house, and ends in the 7th. and may have very notable Portents, or Effects, especially amongst the Vulgar Sort in general, and some of the greater and better degree of the Female Sex in Europe, worth Observation.

'Tis observable that as often as any visible Eclipse of the Sun or Moon falls in the Sign Aries, we may find cause to wonder at the wise ordering of the Almighty, who thereby acquaints us in part, or forewarns us what he intends — What has followed upon such Eclipses, we must look back, and consider — The last Eclipse falls in the first Decade of Aries; and Proclus tells us, when the Moon shall lose her Light therein, she presages that Mankind shall be afflicted with Feavers, many Houses fired, much Wood destroyed, it produces also a hot and dry Air, many Catterpillars, and destructive Vermine will infest the Earth; 'tis also said, that an Eclipse of the Sun or Moon in the fiery Trigon, menaces Destruction of Cattel, wars, burning of Towns, many Murthers, Slaughters, Thefts, hot and violent Diseases, strange strange Apparitions in the Air, many Abortions in Women, scarcity of Fruit, and grand Mutations, especially in those places subject to the Sign wherein the Defect happens.

Again, The same Author tells us, that if the Moon be Eclipsed in the second Decade of Libra, (as the first of these) it threatens a Rot to fall amongst Pittysoggers, Informers, Trepanners, and such like Men of Craft and Cruelty, and that they shall severely suffer for their Knavery— Authors add, that an Eclipse of either Luminary in the Airy Triplicity, is the Forerunner of Famine, and Pestilent Diseases, desperate Sickness, high and stormy winds, blowing Trees down by the Roots, and many Houses also— But this must be understood chiefly in those places which are under the Sign the Eclipse falls in. But it has been observ'd in our Age, that Eclipses have not had such violent significations upon Mankind, and the Earth, with what it produces in general, as Authors declare frequently in their writings, and therefore not so much to be confided in, as to their threatening Effects.

To conclude the judgement of this year, I shall present the Reader with all the Conjunctions and Oppositions of Saturn and Mars, that shall happen during the Effects of this Triple Conjunction of Saturn and Jupiter in Lio, under the Portents of which we are now, viz.

These Aspects of the Infortunes, do usually and very frequently point out many Calamities to Mankind, throughout the whole World, as hath been curiously observed, and more particularly to those Places or Countries in the World subject to the signs they are in—— Sometimes by their Influence (and the Permission of the Great Creator of Heaven and Earth) they stir up strange Heats in Mankind, and prompt them, upon slender Occasion, to destroy each other, and sometimes by violent Diseases, sometimes by Plague, or Famine, Fire, Inundation, Earthquakes, &c. all which the best of mortals are too subject unto. From all which let us pray, Good Lord deliver us. Amen.

January's Observations, 1689.

Dixi custodiam vias meas, &c.

I Said I would look to my Way, that I offend not with my Tongue. Which Words give me the same Caution, that I take care not to offend with my Pen; as some bold Gamesters have lately done: Let them look to it, 'tis Time is the Mother of Truth, and may very well be said to be a magnificent Structure upon which every Age builds something higher——

The Configurations of the Planets this Month (if I may modestly write as an Astrologer) are not many, but significant, as the Quadrant of the two Superiours, Saturn and Jupiter, from Scorpio and Aquary, the Square of the Sun and Saturn, and of Saturn and Mercury, from the same Signs, do plainly shew: Hence some Disputes of great Moment, amongst grave elderly Persons, and those of great Power in many places of Europe, may be expected, and that considerable too——

The Turkish Empire still languishes under strange Distraction, and some are now preparing matter, searching for Writings, Witnesses, and other assistances to defend themselves against a Person, or Persons of Quality in some part of Europe.

Note that if you subtract the Hours and Minutes of Sun rising out of 12. Hours, the remainder is the time of Sun setting: or so many Hours and minutes: that the Sun rises before and after fix, so many hours and minutes, he sets before or after fix.

THIS Month is accompanied with a Crowd of Aspects of the Planets, and all of a benovolent Nature, which, in Scarry Dialect, promises much Quietness and Satisfaction among the People in general. Now all matters tend to Unity, or great Endeavours us'd to that purpose. Many deserving Persons, for their Trust and Loyalty, are, about this time, honourably preferr'd, and advanc'd. Leagues and Articles now fall under dispute, and many hopeful Intelligences arrive from several parts of Europe, especially to Merchants, and such Persons who venture their Estates in Foreign Parts. Now there are many Meetings, or Assemblies, of sober, worthy Men, about this time; who, by their deliberate Consultations, endeavour to prevent all Danger, which we may accidentally fall under—— We may also expect to hear of many remarkable Transactions, in mundane Affairs in general; and in particular, as famous Actions in some Kingdoms and Nations not far remote from us—— The good Hand of Providence seems to direct the Counsels of England, and we may justly hope for a right Understanding of Matters of Moment, about this time, under serious debate by our Superiours, tending to the publick good.

March's Observations, 1689.

THIS Month is attended with but few Mutual Aspects of the Planets, but most of them are of a malevolent Nature, and that which is most remarkable is the Quadrate of Saturn and Mars from Fixed Signs, with an Eclipse of the Moon in Libra, which often puts matters into strange fermentation, hence not only Sickness, viz. violent Fevers, Frenzies, and other Diseases are portended this Spring in many places of Europe, but the Minds of Men, and those of no mean Quality, begin to swell with Malice and Discontent, from whence arise malicious Actions, and very considerable Heats amongst Mankind, and many may justly complain of their hard Fates.— But let not the Subjects think themselves wiser than their Rulers. The Effects of these Configurations of the Planets this Month, in all probability, may be more apparent in those which follow, yet in this very Month of March some eminent Lady is menaced with great Misfortune, but of what Nature let Time discover.— We may also expect very uncertain Intelligence, and doubtful News from many Parts of Europe, as well as lying Reports spread out of Design at home, amongst the rest scandalous Libels, and very malicious Invectives, are secretly dispersed amongst a Faction Sort of Discontented Spirits, and the Authors exposed to the common Justice of the Nation. Much Action expected this Spring Season, and about this time we may hear of as great Preparations thereunto. Let us hope well and love one another, and slight the Malice of our greatest Enemies.

April's Observations, 1689.

THIS Month is usher'd in with a Sextile of the Sun and Jove, but within few days after the Sun meets with the hateful Opposition of Saturn, and the whole Month produces Configurations very considerable and worth our Notice. Now whoever doth but consider seriously the actions of this and some succeeding Months, will find the fruits of great Counsel, and amongst the rest discover much Fraud, Dissimulation, and Villany secretly acted by ill men—— Some foolishly loose their places. Wo unto those Persons that endeavour to disturb our Quiet——

About the close hereof welcome News arrives, and perhaps some Ambassadour or Missive also, to agitate Matters of very great consequence, and to good purpose; here is also Honour confer'd upon some very deserving Person or Persons, much to the general satisfaction of the people. Great are the Controversies and Disorders of many Kingdoms and Countries of Europe, whence Confusion and Ruine follows; but I presume England remains quiet in spite of its greatest Enemies: and not only so, but very Formidable, and in much Grandeur, which I pray God long continue. We may hear of high Disputes about this time and those managed with as strong Arguments Pro and Con, and we know that sudden Hopes have oftentimes as sudden alterations. Now such as covet more than Providence hath assigned them, may sit down with Loss, and repent their Folly.

May's Observations, 1689.

THIS Month affords us many Configurations of the Planets and amongst the rest the Trine Aspect of the Superiours, the change of Jupiter's Sign, out of Aquary into Pisces, and the effects of the late Lunar Eclipse, all which may have very material Signification amongst Mortals. Notable Transcendant Actions are now upon the stage of the World, and most Nations are active. So that we cannot want matter to exercise our Contemplation, and perhaps Wonder too. We in England receive various Reports from most parts of Christendom, and in the general it appears to be good. Matters of great concernment are now under Consideration especially in those Kingdoms under the watry Triplicity, since this Month there are no less than four Planets (besides the Moon) therein; Hence we may expect great preparation for Sea Action, amongst the rest the Hollander appears very potent, and in great Splendour. Heavens bless the English Affairs, and direct the great Councils of his Majesty! — May England continue in Peace and Prosperity, and let the Spirit of Division be transported from us into the remotest parts of the World. New Leagues, Articles, Counsels now in prosecution take up much time before they are brought to a final determination — One Nation is now for Peace, another inclines to War, a third stands indifferent and would be better, we have great Hopes of the happy Effects promised by the Benevolent Trine of Saturn and Jupiter, who is now coming into his own Domal-Dignity, and therefore promises well as to our Affairs in England. Every Man for himself and God for us all — Si Deus nobiscum, qui contra nos?

There are too many amongst us that are unwilling to obey, but must never expect to command, Curat Lex, Fiac Justitia.

June: Observations, 1689.

Very pleasing News at the beginning hereof; This Month affords more variety of Aspects and Conjunctions than any Month in the Year, and therefore it may very well be expected to be a Month of much Action, Notable Debates and Disputations concerning publick Affairs: For Mercury is in Trine to both the Superiours at the beginning hereof. Ill Men are apt to repine and complain of the Actions of their Superiours, and those who are in Authority over them, but let us rather endeavour to be obedient and as much as in us lyes promote the Power and Authority that has hitherto preserv'd us in our just Rights and Liberties. Dissatisfied Judgments are active amongst us, and yet the Heavens do still portend Peace and Tranquillity in our Nation. We may also expect much variety of Weather this very Month, sometimes extream Hot and Sultry, at other times cold Showers and such Winds. which may prove very unwholesome, producing a sickly Season to Mortals, from which Good Lord deliver us. Ambassadors and Agents from Forreign parts arrive here, to congratulate and crave Assistance from the King of Great-Brittain; and many Persons of Desert do still meet Preferment—Let those that are guilty of Treasonable and other Criminal Offences secure and defend themselves as well as they can—'Tis a Month of much Action in earnest, every man abounds in his own sense, and various are the Transactions of mundane Affairs all over Europe, Qui cupit pacem, paret bellum. God direct our Superiours in the management of those weighty Affairs that are before them— We are yet under the Influence of the last famous Triple Conjunction.

July's Observations, 1689.

THE Influences of the last Month's Configurations, may have operation in this, and doubtless we shall be sensible of the Effects thereof more or less, for there may be yet Anguis in herba. Here happens another Trine of the Superior Planets, Saturn and Jupiter from Airy Signs occasion'd by their Retrograde Motion and at the same time Mars is potent in England's Sign Aries. This very Month must therefore produce serious Consultations and Debates and something of more than ordinary Concernment determin'd, and settled. Some are advanced to Honour, others are discarded: the Month offords us plentiful Intelligence from most parts of Europe, as also of the Proceedings and Resolutions of the Grand Signior, and his Empire, which by this time no doubt is deplorable enough, contrary to the late bold Predictions of a forward English Astrologer—but I may say Magna Veritas & prevalebit. We know that after a Storm comes a Calm. May his Majesty of England be ever great and glorious in the esteem of his Loyal Sublechts; and let his Enemies tremble at his very Name. If Turbulent Spirits and Malecontented Persons do secretly express their Malice, they shall not fail of a Reward suitable to their Crime. We wish a happy period may be put to all Differences, and distemper'd Passions of the most violent Spirits amongst us, who still endeavour to foment Faction which must needs prove of ill consequence both to themselves and others, Qui ante non cavet, post dolebit.

Nothing more true, the Question's only here,
Whether it be not so throughout the Year.

Every Month produces new Actions, and not without good Reason may it be expected, in most parts of the Christian World— This Month produces a hateful Opposition of the two Infortunes, Saturn and Mars, which usually is followed with violent Effects: we know that Resolutions are the Moulds wherein most Actions are cast, & this malevolent Opposition puts too many upon such resolutions as end in violent Actions to their sorrow. Many aged Persons labour under great afflictions, especially that of bodily Indisposition, viz. Languishing under tedious Diseases, which end in Death. Clamours and fresh Accusations brought against some principal Offenders for their willful Transgressions, and yet at the same time others find much favour and are promoted; and probably such as are Martially inclin'd. Here is also about the end hereof welcome News to the Merchants of England, of the safety of some Ships abroad, and the safe arrival of others home: we have likewise this Month amongst other variety of Aspects the Opposition of the Sun and Jupiter, and he opposed again by Mercury: I say these are very significant Configurations, and betoken great Divisions amongst great Persons in some Countries of Europe, and many contradictions in their Counsels and Debates, whence we may conclude it a Month of much business, and many considerable matters controverted therein. It were well if many Persons amongst us would forbear their intemperate and hot-headed resolutions, and strange unadvis'd Actions.

September's Observations, 1689.

THE Planet Mars this Month is in a rugged Sign, and by his Retrograde Motion meets with a second Opposition of Saturn in that subtle Sign Scorpio, with some other significant Configurations, accompanied with a famous Eclipse of the Moon in Aries: besides we are yet under the male effects of the two preceeding Months. The happiest Person of us all must not think to escape in this World, without a share of some Misfortunes; it may fitly be called Mundus furiosus, or a mad World. Great Persons appear more than ordinary jealous of one another, and many unquiet Spirits pride themselves to disturb their Superiours, and the Publick Peace; when on the other side they cannot but know, that good Order is the Life and Soul of Government—Many are too apt to dispute for Priviledges of Revenge, but a quick Dispatch soon cures such desperate Diseases—'Tis Experience and Repentance make People wise—Deus ubique est. Former private Counsels and Consultations begin to be apparent, also many Disgusts, or secret Dislikes do now manifest themselves, as great Contests amongst Men, tedious malicious Law-Suits, Also Quarrels, Duels, Robberies, Murthers and violent Bloodshed in hot disputes; strange Raging and Madness amongst the Sons of Men, Cum multis aliis, now or about this time. Yet we hope the benevolent Influence of the good Stars may very much mitigate the Malignity of the Evil; for 'tis usually so, that the favourable Aspects of one Month, do alleviate the Violence of the Cross-Aspects of another. Blessed are the Peace-Makers.

 With Longings to be enter'd in those Schools,
 Where Patience and Repentance (when too late)
 Are thoroughly taught them at a costly Rate.

October's Observations, 1689.

THE first Week in this Month affords several notable Configurations of the Planets, whose Influence in some Measure may mitigate the evil before portended; and in some things rather aggravate and put forward the aforesaid ill Effects. The Opposition of Mars and Mercury, as also of the Sun and Mars together with the Conjunction of Saturn and Mercury, and square of Jupiter will doubtless stir up notable Disputes in earnest, and perhaps occasion some trouble to a Person of note in Authority, and not only so, but some of the long Robe, viz. Clergymen or Lawyers are also menaced or laid aside, or receive their Quietus, &c. or at least put some of them to their ne plus ultra. But as these Accidents fall remote from England, so will they be amongst no mean or ordinary Persons—This Month brings business along with it, and very notable Counsels and Debates may be expected in most eminent Places in Europe, among the rest the Turks themselves will be extremely, active and not without good reason: for their Strength and Grandeur must certainly, by this time, be very much abated, their ruine arising from themselves chiefly, and aggravated by those late Oppositions of Saturn and Mars their own Significators. Let us not dread what cannot be prevented, nor torment ourselves with the fear of what we may never live to see. Lastly, our Kingdom of England appears happy as in all other things, so in the safe returns of her Ships from remote parts of the World, &c. which I pray God continue.

November's Observations, 1689.

THIS Month begins with a Quadrate Aspect of the Sun and Jove, who is at the same time befriended by the benevolent Sextile of Mars and Trine of Venus: God grant a right understanding amongst all persons all the World over, and give them Loyal Hearts, and sound Resolutions to Unity, till then there is (or will) be small hopes of happiness. Let no man be wise to deceive himself. Felix qui potuit rerum cognoscere Causas, happy is he that is able to know the Causes of things: Some grave Clergy man or Lawyer is ill-disposed, or under cross Circumstances, but recovers again, and loses no Honour: here is also Honour confer'd upon some deterring Lady, perhaps by Marriage, which after much opposition and difficulty is nobly celebrated. The Affairs of Europe in general, stand this Month in very good Order, and we have dayly or very frequently Ambassadors or Agents from Foreign Parts, upon several Occasions, friendly addressing themselves in the behalf of their Masters to the King of Great Britain to their Satisfaction, and in order to the composing and settling Matters of great moment amongst them: there are several Great Conventions, Diets, Councils and other Popular Meetings to regulate Matters, and preserve themselves from Dangers—The Opposition of Mars and Venus menaces some subtile Lady (who lives more by Art than Honesty) with Loss and Detriment, or at least some considerable Prejudice or Loss of her best Friends; this puts her into a strange fit of Melancholy, aggravated by the Conjunction of Saturn and Venus, but for other Matters all things we hope remain in good Order. Sed Bernardus non vidit omnia.

December's Observations, 1689.

WE draw near to the Year's end, and too many Persons find themselves as much unsettled, as at the beginning hereof—Since 'tis almost impossible to live without the attendance of those unwelcome Companions which are incident to most Men, viz. Fears and casual Vexation—The Configurations of the Planets this Month are very propitious and favourable; which may (I hope) influence the Spirits of the most thinking sort of men amongst us to much amity and friendship: and now good news may be expected from several parts of Europe, therefore let us hope well notwithstanding we know that the course of this World is full of Change. 'Tis now a fit time for Consultation, and most Nations are busie in contriving ways to promote their future Happiness: also I may say (if the Stars fail us not) our English Nation remains in great Splendour, notwithstanding the Threats and bold Predictions of such daring Persons that pretend to know more, and to be better acquainted with the Effects of Starry Influences than their Brethren. We should be modest in our Conjectures, and not presume to be positive or particular in any thing, 'tis sufficient we give modest hints, &c.

For in s' abstracte an Art can any write

Still so exactly as to hit the white?

Our Brains caught such a Bruise by Adam's fall,

We know but darkly since, or not at all.

God preserve his sacred Majesty, the Queen, the Prince, and all the Royal Family, &c. and continue Peace and Tranquillity amongst us now and ever.

Amen
